A Time To Be

Get a life in which you notice the smell of salt water pushing itself over the dunes, a life in which you pay attention to the baby as she scowls with concentration when she tries to pick up a Cheerio with her thumb and first finger. Keep still. Be present. Get a life in which you are not alone. Find people you love, and who love you. And remember the love is not leisure, it is work. Look around at the azaleas making fuchsia starbursts in spring; look at a full moon hanging silver in a black sky on a cold night. And realize that life is glorious...Think of life in all its small component parts - snowdrops, daffodils, fettuccine alfredo, fudge...Life is made up of moments, small pieces of glittering mica in a long stretch of gray cement.

-Anna Quindlen

ORIENTATION DAY
SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY
JUNE 14, 1999

Suffolk University orientation,
June of 1999

The year was 1999. It was a new year full of opportunities for change. It was a chance to start all over. It was the beginning of another four year journey. It represented a chapter in our lives that described the transitions we had made and were in the process of making.

As freshmen entering Suffolk University, happy to see familiar faces of those we connected with during orientation, we launched ourselves into the exciting world of all-nighters, nauseating dorm food, skipping classes just because you could and those ill-fated mornings waking up still intoxicated while thinking "how the hell did I end up here?" For some, it was our first experience in a big city, away from the comfort of our home and supervision of our parents, and having to share our personal space with a complete stranger. It was at this point that we had to step out of the comfort of knowing what would happen next and into a world of real responsibility that we have anticipated since our childhood. The transition took some getting used to, but eventually we became accustomed to staying up until 4:00 a.m. just talking, frequenting the bars in Fanueil Hall and hitting up Mom and Dad for food and rent money while always finding enough to buy beer. As the years went by, we've made and lost friends and lovers, and we've formed relationships that will last a lifetime. It was during these years that we developed who we are and established what we stand for. As we approach graduation, we look to the future, to endless possibilities that lie ahead and see the past four years behind us, only to remain cherished memories of some of the best times of our lives, and of those with whom we began the journey.

Turn the page. Another chapter begins. Class of 2003, it's our time to be.

A Time To Be

"I see a force that guides my life and leads me along this path
And I walk forward with a steady pace, my eyes not glancing back
Other souls that were close to me I know now will drift away
But memory will serve me well to bring them back someday..."

A MESSAGE FROM President Sargent to the class of 2003

Congratulations to the Class of 2003! We at Suffolk University are proud to watch as you set sail on a new stage of your journey through life. We have offered you the gift of knowledge, and you have accepted it through diligent study. Now we encourage you to enjoy the benefits of your education: satisfying careers, a positive role in civil society and the enjoyment that comes when learning never stops. As you graduate, you join more than 40,000 active Suffolk University alumni who have made their mark in business, education, law, public service, the sciences and the arts. It is with high expectations that we watch you set forth to tackle the tremendous challenges and opportunities awaiting you in these professional areas.

Your interlude here at Suffolk University has coincided with a time of great tumult in our country. The events of September 11, 2001 shook us all world and our place in it. An even more. And some of you went armed services, while others amidst of these troubles, Suffolk making positive contributions. Ideas and strove to learn more about and a town meeting after September S.O.U.L.S. community service served food to the needy and building housing through Habitat for serving and those protesting the war another, they both served their fellow saw a need. Suffolk University is a alumni a legacy of public service. I of involvement. If you feel strongly out - take action. You will soon find others of like mind, and you can, indeed, change your neighborhood, your community, your workplace - or the world. But as you strive to make the world a better place, remember to always stay involved with the strongest unit of society - your family. Your families are proud of what you have accomplished, and the University appreciates the role they have played in encouraging your achievement. The families that you came from and the families you nurture now and in the future provide the solid base on which to build the future. Suffolk University has demanded much of you during your time here as students. Your professors expected you to read reams of text and analyze a wide variety of subject areas in papers, projects and class discussions. You have reached deep within yourselves to give your utmost to the quest for knowledge. Now I am going to ask for one more thing.

Through continued involvement such as this, the graduates of today can become partners with a University dedicated to students and their success. You have been an outstanding group of students, and we hope you will play a role in the future of this institution.

Senior Breakfast

Before the moment that every senior at Suffolk has waited for since the first day of classes four years ago, several members of the class of 2003 gathered together at the Marriot Copley Plaza for a shared breakfast and Alumni induction celebration. A variety of breakfast items were served along with champagne to toast the beginning of the end for this year's senior class. Speeches were given as the members of the senior class were inducted into the Alumni Association and are now official Alumni of Suffolk University.

Class president Sean Powers delivered an eloquent speech.

Who knew breakfast was so amusing?

Commencement speaker Kim Duca is ready to graduate.

The Mouneimneh family paused for a quick picture on their way into the breakfast.

We're just here for the food.

These students are very excited to be done.

The commencement celebration is shared with loved ones.

Rob can't wait to walk.

These ladies are excited to be done with school.

Commencement

It's the moment every senior at Suffolk has been waiting for from the moment they first walked through the doors. It's the time when we can all honestly say that we've made it. Sitting in the chilly outdoor Fleet Boston Pavilion amongst our beloved family and friends on May 18, 2003, our class of 2003 eagerly awaited our turn to proudly walk across the stage in the spotlight. On this day we celebrated our achievements and faced the prospects of the future. Despite the unprecedented upheaval and tumult in the past few years, we persevered to the end. And now with the diplomas in our hands that nobody can take away, we look back and realize these days were the greatest and will be missed, and we almost wish we could go back and do it all over again. This is the time when we step back and look at all we've accomplished and looking ahead to the future and what is to become. Let's stay at this peak for a while before ascending to the next pinnacle. We are on top of the world.

Smile Sean. Commencement is a happy event.

Sean and Jackie feel pretty important carrying their torches.

This student hasn't had her coffee yet.

What is everyone looking at?

I'm finally out of here!

You're welcome.

These students couldn't be any happier to be graduating.

Commencement

Laurie listens attentively to the speeches.

What, you mean for all that time and money we spent, we don't even get a real diploma??

The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams.

~Eleanor Roosevelt

1:31...1:32...1:33...1:34...

Wake me when it's our turn to go up.

Timothy Russert from "Meet the Press" delivers the Commencement Address.

President David Sargent congratulates the class of 2003.

Which line are supposed to be in?

Kim Duca shares her fears of moving on.

Commencement

This student is trying hard to make it appear as if he is paying attention.

To accomplish great things, we must not only act, but also dream; not only plan, but also to believe.
~Anatole France

Rob pauses for a photo on his way off the stage.

Nice glasses.

We would like to express our deepest sympathy for your unfortunate adversity...

Dean Ronayne congratulates the graduates.

Matt is obviously happy to be done.

The beginning called for us to converge, and we found the necessity to come together to accomplish goals and renew our sense of security. The life to which we had become accustomed had been uprooted. The challenges we overcame, lessons we learned and experiences we had together have created the foundation we need to begin to pave our own roads and make our way through life. We learned the true value of time, so now you must seize and enjoy every moment of it because only you can define its true meaning. It is at this time that we mark our place in history by creating a definite foundation for our thoughts and inspirations. These experiences distinguish us as independent souls in a sea of uniformity and are the defining moments through which we learn to live. This is the beginning of the rest of our lives, so let's make it worthwhile.

I want to take this opportunity to thank those who have made a difference in my life. "Parents are not here to lean on, but to make leaning unnecessary." Mom and Dad, you are the most special people in my life and you have truly made me the person I am today. I love you with all my heart. Your patience, faith, guidance and reassurance have given me the strength to believe that no matter what path in life I choose to take, I'll always have your love and support. I hope I have made you proud, as that would be my greatest accomplishment of all. Zac and Adam, you are both unique and very special to me, and I hope you always remember that. Thank you both for always being there for me. I love you guys!

L onnie, my guardian angel and best friend, from freshman year in high school to now, thanks for the heart-to-hearts, nights out, shopping trips, days by the sand pit and most of all your friendship. Patrick, after 22+ years of friendship I can still count on you to make me laugh. To my girls, Crough, Cote, Hadden, Mason, Kara and "the boys," Bodurth, Blair, Mike, Marc, Danny, Chris, Pete, you made the journey worthwhile. Thanks for all the trips to Charlestown Beach, Joyce Family Pub, Bodurthapalooza, TJs and the 'Drome, Montreal 2001, skinny dipping, oreos and milk, the almost kiss, vanilla bean coolatas and bagels, Melissa not everything is flat in Feeding Hills, and oh, Lindsey, excuse me miss? You know, you can eat that flower, and by the way, Iraq called, they want their bombs back. I love you all, I'll never forget.

T o those who I met and stayed closest to at Suffolk... Kris, Jon, Guy, Ryan, Bobby, Kevin, Billy, Murph, Justin, thanks for making it unforgettable. Kris my rock of strength, you are the best, I couldn't have done it without you. Jon, thanks for letting me cry on your shoulder. Bobby, you'll always be my "bad boy" and Justin, I hope you'll always share your thoughts with me. Guy, you mean a lot to me and I'll never forget my 22nd birthday. Leah, Michelle, Alex, from our days in the dorms, late night talks, parties and dances and 21st birthdays, so much happened in four years, I'm glad I was there to share it with you. Kerri, the best friend and roommate I could have asked for, thanks for the Rave, the "BEST SHOW EVER," our trip to Montreal...uh, I mean, Philadelphia, our first nudie bar, 18 year old frat boys, midnight runs to Taco Bell, Hurricane O'Reilly's and...what's with the geeks in the suits?

Editor's Thank-you

To the one who holds my heart...Matt, it's been four amazing years. We've had our ups and downs, but you've given me what no one else in the world has or ever will. You've stood by me and have been there through everything. I admire your persistence, patience, spontaneity, thoughtfulness and compassion. You have so much love and kindness in your heart to give. I'll never forget anything, from the pink lipstick, Avalon, midnight picnics at Mt. Holyoke, to the gift, the fire alarm, summer days, purple roses and poems, sunrises, and jet skiing, to our trip to Hawaii, Plum Island, holidays and birthdays and everything else, you are my best friend and you always will be. Thank you for the best four years of my life, and thank you for sharing your life with me. "To 100 years more..." I love you with all my heart.

Special thanks goes to Dan McHugh. I could not have finished this project without your unquestioned assistance. Anything I needed you provided, including much of the photographs that appear in this book. Also thanks to John Carrier at Herff Jones, Steve at FinePoint Photography, Suffolk Athletic Director Coach James Nelson, and Aurelio, Chris, Kim, Katy and the rest of the SAO staff. I hope you are all pleased with the finished product.

Believe

“ In an age of nothing
 At a time when we stand at the brink of our own destruction
 Strengthen your belief in yourself
 In the future of humanity
 In the things of this world which cannot easily be perceived
 Awaken that which lies dormant
 now within your soul
 Re-ignite the flame of your consciousness
 And measure the strength of your conviction
 Reveal the lie
 Renounce your hatred
 Seek, find and embrace the truths
 you are fortunate enough to discover
 Cherish them
 Use them to anchor you in the sea of chaos that is the world we live in
 When twilight draws near
 When you are pushed to the very limits of your soul
 When it seems that all you have left are the dead remnants of the fabric of your life--
 BELIEVE.

Remember...

Remember the roommates, the fears, the tears, the nerves, setting up the room, taking it apart and then rearranging it all over again.

Remember the first guy/girl who caught your eye, that same guy/girl who you will still remember as your first college crush.

Remember attempting to keep in touch with high school friends, and succeeding until you realized what a phone bill really meant.

Remember promising to never change, but then realizing that's an impossible promise to keep when high school passed and you moved on.

Remember those first friends you shared your fears with, who soon became acquaintances, those neighbors and classmates, who ended up becoming your closest friends.

Remember holding back the tears on those days when you just wanted to be home again, to feel safe again.

Remember those days you felt you couldn't relate to anyone, you felt you had no place, and just calling home would make it worse.

Remember those bonding nights, when you never felt closer to a certain person, and how that closeness creates ties that never die.

Remember how you never realized the importance of family, until you didn't see them everyday.

Remember telling friends the deepest secrets of your life, and knowing they'd remain secrets.

Remember pulling all nighters, and never thinking they were as bad as they sounded until you actually lived through one.

Remember when your closet stretched throughout the whole floor and you never had to worry about a lack of clothes anymore.

Remember how over breaks you had the chance to step back and really see the friends you made and the memories shared, and you were satisfied.

Remember thinking how much your life changed in just months.

Remember how that guy/girl you once lived for soon became a joke and an excuse for you and your friends to laugh at yourselves.

Remember the times, never forget them, even the little ones can hold the greatest meaning.

Remember to never lose touch with those friends you've made here at college, because you have all changed and grown enormously together, and that is something very sacred to be shared.

Remember to never let a day go by without living it to the fullest.

Remember to never let a day go by without a laugh, remember them, and let them echo in the back of your mind.

Remember to never let a day go by without showing the ones you love that you love them, because life isn't forever.

Remember to love your friends, whether they come, go, love you or hurt you, and never let anyone go.

Remember we were only here for a short while, the time flew by before we realized it, so and I hope you made it memorable because it was the best times of our lives. We made the best memories here that we'll carry with us for the rest of our days.

And always remember, as we leave here after four years, we are leaving with much more than we walked in here with.

“An education isn’t how much you have committed to memory, or even how much you know. It’s being able to differentiate between what you know and what you don’t.” ~Anatole France

Working Overtime...

The student organizations at Suffolk University provide a great way for students to meet other students with the same interests, have fun and enhance their experiences at Suffolk. The University offers a diverse array of nearly 75 student run clubs and campus organizations in which students may become involved. These organizations, which include media groups, cultural groups, student government, special interest groups, performing arts and academic organizations, enrich the social and cultural life of the University and help students prepare for citizenship in a global community.

Student Organizations

"We make the good stuff happen." The slogan for Program Council is very fitting. Several of the most exciting events are planned and held as a result of this organization's hard work and dedication. Their main purpose is to coordinate and plan a variety of social, educational and cultural events for the Suffolk Community. Some of their featured events include the spring ball and holiday party, international Thanksgiving dinner, Temple Street fair, Halloween party, discounted tickets to sporting events, and a variety of welcome back week events such as free food and movie nights. This year they also arranged for a comedy night as well as a trip to see Sheer Madness. This year, led by president Caryn Baker, they certainly worked overtime to make the good stuff happen once again.

Every Wednesday, hundreds of Suffolk students, faculty and staff look forward to grabbing a copy of The Suffolk Journal, the campus newspaper, to catch the latest news. The Journal is the primary means of receiving and distributing information on campus for the community. Managed and produced entirely by undergraduates, the Journal is committed to providing the best news coverage, both on and off campus, through entertainment and sports stories, editorials and reviews. Each year, it carries on the tradition of being the campus information leader with an educational source for students seeking a career in media. Staff members gain valuable experience in reporting, copy editing, layout and graphic design, production, business management, advertisement, photography, public relations and, of course, leadership. The journal has received numerous awards, including the Associated Press Peacemaker, which is awarded to the top six weekly student newspapers at four-year colleges and universities nationwide.

Lead by president Steve Jean, the Black Student Union assists black students in adjusting to college life at Suffolk. The members of the club present speakers and functions to promote insight into black students' concerns and goals. They act as a liason between black students and the administration on issues such as recruitment, financial aid and academic needs. They also work to expand and increase cross-cultural communication between African American students and other students. Each year, they sponsor an African Diaspora, a show that brings together talented dancers, musicians and speakers. This year, they received an outstanding club of the year award at the Student Government Association's Leadership Awards banquet.

Caribbean Student Network

The Caribbean Student Network works to educate the campus community about the people and culture of the Caribbean nations. It also serves as a support network for Caribbean-American students at Suffolk. Cultural celebrations, such as the fashion show organized each year, and educational presentations are some of the great events sponsored by this organization.

Suffolk Free Radio is Suffolk University's student run radio station broadcasting to various locations throughout the Suffolk campus as well as on the Web. The radio station consists of an executive board and approximately 45 DJs who showcase their talent throughout the week playing a variety of music from many genres. Students are afforded the opportunity to acquire technical and professional skills in broadcasting and management in a fun and inviting atmosphere. Involvement with the station compliments students learning inside the classroom through leadership opportunities and hands-on experience outside of class. Suffolk Free Radio introduces students to radio production while offering the Suffolk community a wide range of entertainment and programming.

CHORUS

Part of the Student Perform Arts Program, the Suffolk University Chorus is a combination of energetic voices sharing harmonies that inspire within the Suffolk Community. Led by a professional music director, the Chorus is blossoming into a group notable for its willingness to engage in complex arrangements and diverse set of musical genres. Along with smaller performances scattered throughout the year, the chorus culminates each academic semester with a performance showcasing their complete section of works. Ranging from folk to classical to contemporary, their musical choices are as diverse as their membership.

Members of the 2002-2003 Suffolk University Chorus.

Step Team

This year, the award for the most improved student club or organization of the year went to Suffolk University's Step Team. Composed of a diverse group of talented students, the Step Team assembles a unique variety of routines involving the type of dance known as stepping whereby a beat is kept to music by the performers using complicated moves with their hands and feet. The group put on a spectacular performance at Fall Fest 2002 and the African Diaspora in November of 2002.

Members of the 2002-2003 Step Team.

SOULS, Suffolk's Organization for Uplifting Lives through Service, is made up of a group of students who enjoy helping out others who are less fortunate than themselves. They sponsor activities such as the university blood drive with the Red Cross, a canned food drive, alternative spring break and service day, which includes Jumpstart, AIDS action committee, and Boston Area Rape Crisis Center. They are also able to help individuals become involved with community service.

Suffolk Events 2002-2003

The time of our lives...

Social life is one of the most important aspects of college for students. The friends you meet and people you encounter and interact with in the beginning are those who will remain close to you during all four years of your college education. The events produced by the college are important in bringing the students together in one place for the purposes of integration and entertainment. Suffolk University worked hard, especially during the 2002-2003 academic year, to make the social life fulfilling for all students. They offered a wide range of activities throughout the year and attempted to reach out to students with varying interests and both those who lived on and off campus. Events such as the holiday and spring balls, Fall Fest, and the awards ceremonies always draw a large crowd and most students find the events to be entertaining and pleasurable.

Temple Street Fair

The Temple Street Fair at Suffolk took place each Spring. This year, it didn't feel much like spring. Forced to endure the 30 degree weather on April 17, 2001, students, faculty and staff still ventured out into the cold to view and experience what this year's fair had to offer. In addition to the activity tables set up along Temple Street, there was also jousting games, hamburgers and cotton candy available.

Activities Fair

The activities fair that takes place annually in the fall is implemented as a way for clubs and organizations to recruit new and returning students to join their group. Tables are placed up and down Temple Street for the group members to display their group's purpose and various activities. Activity fair 2002 was held on September 12. Food and beverages were also served.

Fashion Show

“Dav into

The annual Fashion Show sponsored by the Caribbean Student Network was a great success this year. Held during Unity Week, on the evening of March 29, 2003 in the Regan Gymnasium at Suffolk, the Show featured models displaying various unique elements of fashion and a wide variety of styles for both men and women.

ASIAN AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Asian New Year

Happy New Year!

The Asian American Association is dedicated to promoting and developing the cultural resource of the Asian American community. One of the ways in which they do this is by putting on a show annually for Asian New Year. Genjitsu is the special Japanese festival on New Year's Day, on which the family dresses in new clothes and eats soup, black beans and seaweed, which symbolizes happiness. The children receive gifts, and they use the art of brush and ink to write poems or proverbs on long paper, which is known as kakizome, or the "first writing." Gung Hay Fat Choy, or the Chinese New Year, is a time when families get together and celebrate adding a year to their age. They wear new clothes, fill their homes with flowers and fruit, and remember their ancestors. They also give monetary gifts to children and set off firecrackers. At Suffolk, the AAA celebrates the New Year with a show of dancing and perfomed rituals.

Holiday Ball

The ballroom at the Sheraton Hotel was beautifully lit, cars packed with students decked out in satin and sequins arrive one by one on the evening of December 6, 2002, the night of Suffolk University's annual Holiday Ball. Sponsored by Program Council, this event is an eagerly anticipated one as students take a break before beginning final exam preparation. Glass mug favors adorned the white-clothed tables and a long table of delicious food lined one wall of the room. Dresses and jewelry sparkled in the light while DJ Lou Greenwald blared a wide variety of the latest and greatest tunes, ranging from Christina Aguilera's "Dirrty" to Eric Clapton's "Wonderful Tonight." As the evening concluded, the students departed with memories of an unforgettable evening to be cherished through the years.

Hip Hop Comedy Nigh

On February 28, 2003, a crowd gathered in the C. Walsh Theater to enjoy an evening of laughter and entertainment. A new event this year, the Hip Hop Comedy Night featured comedians, hip hop dancers and the Suffolk Step Team. As per usual, it was an evening enjoyed by all.

UNITY WEEK LUNCHEON

Suffolk is proud to offer a range of programming focused on specific cultures and interests, and the annual Unity Week is no exception. Held between March 24 and 29, 2003, Unity Week celebrates several different cultures with events including an international luncheon, Greek lessons, a hunger banquet, Interfaith yoga classes, GLBT jeopardy, AAA game night, the Unity Week show, the CSN fashion show, and speakers discussing various issues, among other events. The Center for International Education also presented "dinner and a movie" in the International Student Lounge. The planning committee of students and staff worked hard to put together this wonderful celebration of diversity and community.

Oh, none for me, thank you.

Matt Wilder and Caryn Baker of PC tip their hats and wish you a Happy Thanksgiving!

International Thanksgiving Dinner

On the evening of November 25, 2002, the Suffolk University International Thanksgiving Dinner was held in the Donahue Cafeteria at 5:00 p.m. During this time, Suffolk students, faculty and staff of several different nationalities and religions gathered together to join in the Thanksgiving celebration. The purpose of this dinner is to give students who do not have the opportunity to spend Thanksgiving with their families to still gain a sense of togetherness for the holidays. It also brings together individuals from different cultures who do not celebrate Thanksgiving in their home countries and allows them to experience this American tradition. And, as always, the food was delicious.

That punch looks good...pour some in my cup, would you?

Don't you wish you could do that?

In the city of Boston, true winter begins in December and continues through January, February and even March. Boston winters are cold and snowy to say the least, which is perfect weather for ice skating. The class of 2004 and the Student Government Association at Suffolk decided to take advantage of this cold winter by organizing a trip to Frog Pond on Boston Common for some ice skating following the Thanksgiving dinner celebration. So on the evening of November 25, 2002, several students put on their hats and mittens and ventured across Beacon Hill in the blustery winter weather to enjoy this seasonal tradition.

INTERFAITH FESTIVAL OF Lights

On a cold and snowy Thursday, December 5, 2003, the Suffolk University interfaith tree lighting was held in Alumni Park, whereby Suffolk students, faculty and staff gathered together to light candles and a tree, sing carols and give speeches in celebration of the holidays of Christmas, Ramadan, Kwanzaa and Chanuka.

The chorus takes a break to listen to the speakers.

The holiday celebration wouldn't be complete without the 12-foot Christmas tree.

The Suffolk Community marches toward the Statehouse.

Sean Duggan displays his support by taking part in the walk.

Judy Benson is ready to release her balloon along with the the rest of the Suffolk Community.

On October 6, 2002 at 1:45 p.m., Suffolk University students, faculty and staff gathered in front of Suffolk's Law School to begin a walk in support of finding a cure for breast cancer. Organized by Jean Neenan and Susan Donoghue of the Alumni Relations Department, the breast cancer walk was five miles around the Charles River in order to raise money to help fund breast cancer research, which is constantly in need of support and assistance.

According to the American Cancer society, an estimated 200,000 women in the United States will be diagnosed with breast cancer this year. Another 40,000 are expected to die from the disease. Norine Bacigalupo, professor of in the communications department, recently helped to organize the Suffolk University Women's Health Partnership. The group's first event consisted of a seminar and reception on campus, followed by a walk to the statehouse, where 135 biodegradable pink balloons were released as a sign of support for the 135 women in Massachusetts who were diagnosed with breast cancer during the first week of October in 2002.

Violence Vigil

Domestic

A Domestic Violence Awareness Vigil was held in Alumni Park at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 10, 2002. This enlightening yet poignant program, which was sponsored by the Student Government Association in conjunction with the Women's Program Initiative, was intended to spread awareness of domestic violence as well as sympathy for victims thereof to the members of the Suffolk Community. Domestic violence is a crime that is widespread throughout the world, and is a frequent reality to too many individuals. The more awareness is spread, the more opportunity we have to correct the problem. During the vigil, information was distributed by various speakers while everyone who attended held a lit candle in memory of the victims lost as a result.

The night of Thursday, October 24, 2002 marked Suffolk University's annual Halloween Party, sponsored by Program Council. This year's "Monster Mash" Cruise featured appearances by Charlie Chaplin, Drew Carey, Gumby, Minnie Mouse and that guy from all three "Scream" movies. Highlighted with good food, music and an array of creative costumes, the cruise was a night filled with all-night dancing and great prizes. If you were there, you had a blast. If you weren't, you missed out on a lot of fun. Where else can you get bit by a vampire, get shagadellic with Austin Powers, kick ass with Charlie's Angels and do the "YMCA" with the Village People all in one night?

On October 17, 2002, students and staff at Suffolk gathered around the activities center to enjoy an array of delicious Hispanic food as part of their celebration of Hispanic Heritage Month. The Hispanic Heritage Luncheon, sponsored by the Suffolk University Hispanic Association, was the closing event for Hispanic Heritage month. The Luncheon, which offered a wide variety of food displaying rich Hispanic heritage, is just one example of how SUHA organizes many social, cultural and educational events relating to Hispanic culture for the entire Suffolk community and tries to connect students of Hispanic origin through various activities and opportunities at Suffolk. It was one of the programs presented to promote knowledge of rich and diverse cultural experiences.

No cake until you finish your lunch!

This group is all smiles while enjoying the food at the Luncheon.

This student shows pride in her heritage.

These girls take a break from eating to pose for a picture.

You want some?

I think we've got plenty.

Linda works hard to help keep everything organized.

Commuter Connections

Commuter Connections Week was a program coordinated by the Office of Student Activities and Service learning that intended to reach out to and bring together the majority of Suffolk students who do not live on campus. In honor of Halloween, SAO sponsored a pumpkin decorating table on Wednesday, October 16, 2002 in the Donahue Cafeteria. With Halloween just around the corner, the table attracted several students willing to grab a pumpkin and get creative!

Commuter Connections week also incorporated a commuter breakfast from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. in the Donahue Lobby. The breakfast included a variety of pastries, muffins and doughnuts for everyone to enjoy.

I think I'll just put that one back.

Concentrate!

Cheryl reverts back to her childhood days of pumpkin painting.

Brent is thrilled to be working at the commuter breakfast table.

We have to paint how many more pumpkins?

See the sign? No residence hall students allowed!

Don't cry...it doesn't look that bad.

Pumpkin painting was a popular activity during commuter connection week.

Mine's better than yours.

The masseuses work their magic.

"I think i could fall asleep in this chair..."

Yeah, that's the spot.

RELAXATION DAY

The students at Suffolk relax before finals week.

Every Suffolk student can relate to the feeling of being stressed out right before finals week. You're tense and agitated, and feel there's never enough time for all that studying. Well, thanks to Program Council, professional massage therapists were brought to Suffolk for some relaxation and relief from all the pressure. They provided much needed back, hand and head massages to students. Hopefully, this will be an event the students can enjoy in the future.

These ladies are determined to make the students completely relaxed.

FALL FEST

The lights go dim. The music blares through the speakers. The C. Walsh Theater once again comes alive. Friends and family gather together to watch dancers, actors and various other musical performers during Suffolk's annual Fall Fest Variety Show, directed by Chris DiStefano. This year's Fall Fest, presented for three consecutive shows on October 17, 18 and 19, 2002, featured several vocal performance and dance numbers, and featured an ensemble cast displaying their singing, dancing and acting talent, performing through the theme of service during WWII. As always, the performers in Fall Fest worked hard during several rehearsals to create the perfect show highlighted to kick off family weekend.

Nice coconuts.

Justin and Brad show their "emcee" style.

Families Visit New England Aquarium

Come on Michelle, I want to see the turtles!

Jen and Ramon take five.

Besty and Kelly enjoy the wonderful food the Aquarium has to offer.

How much longer do we have to stay here?

What, you're not gonna share that?

Can you point us in the direction of the dolphins please?

We're going to see the penguins!

Family weekend, an annual tradition at Suffolk, was, as always, a great success. On Saturday, October 19, 2002, families and friends of students gathered at Suffolk to take part in various activities. The first of the events was the Boston area walking tours, whereby members of the Suffolk history department lead you through a historic Boston with its cobblestone street and colonial style neighborhoods. You could also view photos taken by students as they showed the world through their eyes at the student photo exhibit, and taste the many flavors and of Boston area restaurants at the "Taste of Boston." The day featured a trip to the New England Aquarium that evening, where families could enjoy dinner, music, aquarium exhibits and an IMAX movie.

Are you boys old enough to have those drinks?

Angela makes a new friend.

We love the New England Aquarium!

Jen's parent's sneak her a kiss.

Family weekend celebrates the families and friends of the campus community and gives them the opportunity to meet Suffolk staff, faculty and administrators as well as other families. It gives the students' families a chance to spend time with their student while enjoying a variety of events. This year's family weekend highlighted campus activities, interactions with faculty and staff, and great evening entertainment. And if you were lucky, you made some aquatic new friends as well.

Caribbean Student Network

Luncheon

On November 14, 2002, the Caribbean Student Network and SOULS sponsored a Thanksgiving luncheon to celebrate the festive holiday. Tasty food originating from Caribbean nations was served in the activities center in the Donahue building while students, faculty and staff gathered in celebration. The luncheon also served as a "dropoff" site for the SOULS can drive which raised over 1,500 cans for the hungry.

Do you think i've got enough food?

Go on, I dare you to eat it.

What's so funny Linda?

Yeah, I know this shirt looks good on me.

Hmmm...what is that?

Steve enjoys the food served at the Luncheon.

How much more food do you think I can fit on this plate?

This student shows her appreciation for being recognized.

Aurelio presents Heather with the outstanding student leader award.

Recognition

Day

On April 15, 2003, Suffolk's president David J. Sargent was joined by Deans Susan Thayer, Susan Atherton, and Nancy Stoll in congratulating and recognizing the outstanding academic achievements of the students. The annual event was held at the historic Tremont Temple, which allowed for a greater attendance of student award recipients and their families. President Sargent offered opening remarks, praising the students for their hard work and dedication during the academic year. Awards were given for academic excellence in each individual academic department, along with the athletic department. Among those recognized were those who received awards for outstanding student leader, Who's Who, academic honor societies, scholarships and fellowships. Immediately following the ceremony was a reception sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and held at the Omni Parker House. All student award recipients and their families were invited to attend the reception.

Matt accompanied Leila to the Recognition Day awards ceremony.

Michele is recognized in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Cindy Leigh receives senior honors for the College of Arts and Sciences.

Simon thanks Aurelio for his award.

Sean pauses for a photo with his family.

Suffolk's A Capella group performed at the Leadership Awards.

Tom Carey was awarded "Outstanding Male Athlete."

PHOCUS Photography Group was awarded with the Outstanding Program of the Year Award for "Bringing it Back to the Dot!"

SGA Leadership Awards

The annual Leadership Awards Ceremony, sponsored by the Student Government Association and the Office of Student Activities, was held this year on April 25, 2003 at the Holiday Inn Select in Boston. Each year, students, faculty and staff are asked to nominate fellow students, faculty and staff members for these awards based on their leadership skills. These nominations illustrate the impact to our community in a full year of challenges and rewards by dedicated individuals. The recognition signifies the magnitude of individual contributions to improve the quality of campus life at Suffolk. This year, 200 nominations were received. Among the award recipients were John Essiah for Outstanding Senior of the Year, Dave Rodrigues for Junior of the Year, Jodi Maffioli for Outstanding Faculty Member of the Year, Allison Curren and Tom Carey for Outstanding Athletes, and Anthony Hightower, who received the Unsung Hero Award.

John Essiah was presented with the award for Outstanding Senior of the Year.

Spring Ball

For all those who decided to attend the last memorable social event for the class of 2003, the evening of April 24 was filled with memories to embrace and hold on to. The evening began with the usual bar and buffet of satisfying cuisine provided by the Hyatt Harborside, the host for the evening, and proceeded by a crowd dancing on the floor as the DJ cranked out a mix of old and new tunes. For the freshman it was a new experience and only one of many dances they will have the opportunity of attending during their years at Suffolk. But for the seniors, it was one of the last opportunities they had to be all together before graduation. For some it was the end and for others it was a new beginning, a look to the future and what's to come. But for all it was a night to remember.

Watching the Clock

Suffolk University fields teams in 12 varsity sports and competes in NCAA division III. Suffolk is also a member of the Great Northeast and Eastern College Athletic Conferences. The 2002-2003 was an outstanding season for Suffolk athletics. Seniors Tom Carey and Julie Niznik both reached the 1000-point mark, Carey being ranked 14th and Niznik 7th in overall University history. Softball finished with a 19-3 conference record, with the most wins ever, and was mentioned in the NEISCA top 10 during the season. Senior Lauren Uttaro led Suffolk with .400 batting average. Baseball finished with a 26-14 record, winning the regular season GNAC title. Senior pitcher Billy Waters finished with a 6-1 record with a 2.5 ERA. Men's soccer reached the GNAC tournament with a 6-3 conference record. Senior Adam Parker was named team MVP. The men's tennis team qualified for the GNAC tournament as No. 1 singles player Karim Vegas has an undefeated regular season. Ice Hockey finished with a 9-10-2 record, with junior Scott Goodman ranked 4th in division III.

THE WAR ON TERRORISM

Over the course of the year, the world's attention focused on a chain of tumultuous terrorist events. In Afghanistan, the Taliban regime fell from power as U.S. troops crippled the al-Qaeda network and cleared caves in search of Osama bin Laden. World-wide, civilians and military personnel fell victim to terrorist bombs and acts of hatred. On the home front, "bioterrorism" became a common term after it was revealed that Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein was producing biological weapons. Hussein's defiance of United Nation's imposed sanctions prompted the United States to seek world support of military action against Iraq. Members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrestled over conflicting opinions on the issue, while North Korean leader Kim Jong Il threatened to deploy nuclear weapons if Iraq was attacked. As tensions rose among political leaders, the world watched and waited to see what the next chapter in "The War on Terrorism" would bring.

One million emergency and military personnel receive Smallpox vaccinations.

World-wide, terrorist linked bank accounts are frozen indefinitely.
